Dominique Dawes:

Continuing to inspire, motivate, and lead after becoming the first African-American gymnast to win an individual Olympic medal, Dominique Dawes owns the Dominique Dawes Gymnastics & Ninja Academies. Her first academy opened in July 2020 during the global pandemic, and a second gym opened in 2023.

Dawes holds minority ownership of the Washington Spirit of the National Women's Soccer League and served as co-chair of the President's Council on Fitness, Sports, and Nutrition under the Obama administration alongside Drew Brees. Recently, she collaborated with LeBron James and Maverick Carter as Executive Producer of the Peacock docuseries "Golden," which follows USA's elite gymnasts on the road to the Tokyo Olympics and has been nominated for a Sports Emmy.

She holds a degree from the University of Maryland and was inducted into UMD's prestigious Hall of Fame in 2022. In 2023, her hometown of Montgomery County, Maryland, honored her career and legacy with a life-size statue. As a wife, mother of four, Olympian, and business owner, Dominique Dawes has transcended the world of sports, politics, entertainment, and culture.
